

Arts high for Dilli

Delhi's art and music lovers recently enjoyed a 10-day arts festival, which comprised 35 events, including gigs, dance performances, art exhibitions and plays, held across the capital. Hosted by Pankaj Bajaj, Shohini Dutta and Deepa Bajaj, the opening show of the Contemporary Arts Week 2014 saw a rousing performance by the band Parikrama, followed by some funky tunes put together by Adi and

Suhail, and Sharat Sonam Reunited. A dance troupe also presented an energetic performance. Designer Khushali Kumar was also present with friends Rahil and Nikhita Tandon. Khushali told us, "I have been a huge fan of Parikrama and didn't want to miss listening to them."

— Piyali Dasgupta2 @timesgroup.com

>> Khushali Kumar

<< Yuko Harad

(Above) Nitin Malik and (top) Sonam Sherpa of Parikrama

<< Two dancers performing in the same outfit

Rahil and Nikhita Tandon

Shohini Dutta (L) and Deepa Bajaj

Pankaj Bajaj

Suhail Yusuf Khan, Aditya Balani, Kartikay Srivastava and Gaurav Balani, members of various Delhi bands, performing at the do